Revolution in Baseball Coaching and Training

By: Ty Isquirdo & Team

What is the Fair-Ball System?

It is a training management tool for baseball youth players development based on Objective Coaching System.

It can be effectively used by Coaches, Players and their Parents to develop players' individual skills and talents potentially leading to placement in professional teams later in their careers.

Scouts can use the system resources for picking the best talents for their teams by reviewing players' training, mental and game performance.

How Fair-Ball is Achieving its Goals?

By integrating hard data from training drills with game stats and in combination with objective assessments, the Fair-Ball system utilizing unique copyrighted formulas generates the optimal lineups and rotations resulting in

WINNING GAMES

In addition to winning games it provides tools for individual players' skills development resulting in such as being drafted to Major League, etc. ...

INDIVIDUAL SUCCESS

Coaches

- Are able to objectively critique players
- Can generate best-fit lineups to win games
- Are able to determine player rotation
- Have a tool to train and grow players
- Are able to give each player and their parents an accurate picture of players' skill level

Players

- Can view performance records and with coaches and parents' guidance to develop game skills
- Have the first hand knowledge about the areas for improvements and identification and sustainment of current superior skills
- Are able observe strengths and weaknesses in comparison with teammates
- Can be shown why they are placed in certain positions and why they may not be receiving more play time

Parents

- Can view their child's performance based on objective performance data obtained from practices, games and training drills
- By utilizing Fair-Ball system there is no doubt that their child is treated fairly
- Fair-Ball system enables parents to be in full control of their child's player skills development

Other Stakeholders

- Organization Officials
- League Officials
- Scouts
- Team Managers

How the Fair-Ball System Does It?

1. Provides a unique login for each of the stakeholder, i.e. a coach, parent, player or a scout
2. Coaches and authorized users enter personal, training and game data throughout the season for each player
3. When enough training data is available, a coach or a manager can generate lineups according to built-in strategies prior to each game
4. Ranking lists can be viewed and downloaded by authorized users (i.e. parents, coaches, players or scouts)
